CLEVENGER CASE IS GIVEN TO JURY

Evidence in Unlawful Possession
Trial Concluded Friday Evening
With Argument Today

DEFENDANT DENIES CHARGE

Maintains That He is a Farmer And Asserts That He is Not a Professional Gambler

The fate of Fred (Froggy) Clevenger was given over to the jury shortly after eleven o'clock this morning, when the court recessed from 3:15 Friday afternoon until nine o'clock this morning in the case in which he is charged with unlawfully selling liquor.

All of the evidence in the case was completed Friday afternoon, and as the case could not have been completed with the arguments before dark yesterday, the court decided to wait until this morning to begin the arguments.

The last witness was Mr. Clevenger, the defendant, who denied that he ever sold any liquor, and in answer to questions by the state concerning his business, he maintained that he was a farmer. He also denied any charges that he was a professional gambler.

The witness also stated that on election day, the time set out in the affidavit that he sold two pints of liquor to Blaine Fritch and Frank Rogers, that he was engaged in hauling voters to the polls and stated that when the polls closed at six o'clock he was at the voting precinct located at the Innis, Pearce and Company factory.

He said that he brought Ray Benning down town and stopped his machine near the corner of Third and Main streets, and that it was possibly 6:15 or 6:20, and after staying in a cigar store a few minutes, he went to the Frank Wallace photograph shop where a lunch had been planned that evening.

He said that in the party were O. C. Brann, Will B. Brann, Mr. Wallace and himself, and that Mr. Brann left about seven o'clock to attend a meeting of the city council, and they all left about the same time.

The only time he saw Blaine Fritch on that day, he said, was about two o'clock in the afternoon, when Fritch paid him $3 that he owed him.

Blaine Fritch, 708 N. Alabama, Indianapolis, formerly of this city, who was the state's witness and perjured himself on the witness stand by testifying falsely as to a previously made sworn statement, remained in jail this morning, and the charge of perjury is to be pressed against him, the prosecutor stated today. A secondary charge of unlawful possession also will be on the docket.

The perjury case, upon conviction, carries with it a prison sentence of from two to fourteen years. An effort to obtain bail for him was expected to be made at the conclusion of the case on trial today.

CONDITION IS VERY GRAVE

John Wanamaker Takes Turn for the Worse, It is Announced

Philadelphia, Dec. 2.—The condition of John Wanamaker, 84-year-old-merchant who has been confined to his home with a severe cold, was reported as grave today.

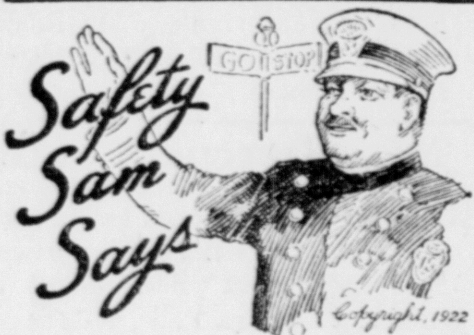

"Although he suffered a continued loss of strength and vitality, Mr. Wanamaker passed a comfortable night," his physicians announced this morning.

Wanamaker passed through an exhausting series of attacks of coughing yesterday and as a result his condition took a serious turn today.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. George F. Brown of New Salem underwent an operation at the Dr. Sexton hospital Wednesday and was reported today to be doing very nicely.

DR. W. R. PHILLIPS IS AFTER SPEAKERSHIP

Orange Physician, Joint Representative From Two Counties, Announces Candidacy

WAS ELECTED TO THIRD TERM

Dr. William R. Phillips of Orange, joint representative in the state legislature of Franklin and Fayette counties, has announced his candidacy for speaker of the house in the forthcoming session of the Indiana general assembly. Dr. Phillips is well known in Rushville where he comes frequently and has a large circle of friends and admirers in the southeastern part of Rush county.

Dr. Phillips was elected for his third term in the house at the recent election. He defeated William Flack a Democrat, of Franklin county.

Dr. Phillips, in point of service, is the second oldest member in the house of the state legislature. He has been active as a member of the legislature and his friends assert he is well qualified for the speakership.

He was mentioned for the place in the session of the last legislature. Dr. Phillips has received assurances of support from over the Sixth district, it was said.

Dr. Phillips has been prominent in public affairs, and he is a veteran of the world war. He served in the medical corps and is a member of Reginald Fisher Post No. 1 American Legion of this city.

REVIVES DISCUSSION OF FEDERAL BUILDING

Congressman R. N. Elliott to Endeavor to Get Appropriation for Postoffice Here

RUSHVILLE IS NEXT IN LINE

Discussion of the porbability of Rushville obtaining a federal building has been revived with the announcement in a Washington dispatch that Richard N. Elliott, representative from the sixth district, will make an effort to get an appropriation of $100,000 for such a structure in the appropriation bill at the next congress.

This question has been up before and Rushville has sought money for a postoffice building here, but the agitator never got far enough for the item to get in the appropriation bill.

Many Rushville people have long felt that this city is entitled to a federal building. It is conceded at least, that this city is next in line because the four larger cities in the sixth district—Richmond, Shelbyville, Connersville and Newcastle, all have federal buildings. Rushville is larger than the other three county seats, Greenfield, Liberty and Brookville, and its postoffice also has much larger annual receipts than these three postoffices.

OVERHEATED FURNACE

An overheated furnace at the home of Miss Sarah I. McConnell, 409 East Ninth street, called the fire department shortly before midnight last night, but no damage resulted. All three divisions made a quick run to the residence, and remained at the residence until the danger of a fire had passed. The alarm was telephoned to the fire department.

CRITICISE LACK OF SCHOOL CODE

Trustee According to Report Has Become School Official and Lost
Most of Civil Duties

RECOMMEND BUDGET SYSTEM

Modern School Code Should Provide For Board of Five Members
Elected by People

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—Defects of local administration of the public schools in Indiana, centering around the control of the rural schools by the township trustee, the maintenance of small town schools by such municipalities as separate from the country schools, and the lack of a modern school code for cities, are criticised in a chapter of the educational survey commission's report to Gov. McCray.

The trustee, according to the report, has become primarily a school official, having lost most of his original civil duties. This is shown by the distribution of township taxes, says the report citing that 85 per cent of these taxes, or $38,621,000, was spent last year on the township schools.

"The trustees are generally satisfied," asserted the report, "with the poorest kind of school grounds, buildings and equipment, with the cheapest teachers available and with the shortest term permitted by law."

The commission recommended that the county be made the unit of school administration, proposing also that school towns be abolished because it said that the independent existence of the town and the townships schools was a stumbling block to each other. The report added that "through proper consolidation, and the pooling of their financial resources, the schools of both the school towns and the rural district can be greatly improved at a minimum cost."

Only a score of the county superintendents were said by the report to be a directive force in school affairs, and the commission declared that many were poorly prepared for their work, due to poor pay, uncertain tenure of office, and lack of authority and assistants.

The cities of the state need a modern school code, the report declared suggesting that such provide for a board of five members, elected by the people for a term of five years. The city superintendent, it was held, should be the executive officer of the board, and responsible for both educational and business management. Further, it was held the code should provide for a budget system, and a unified tax.

EXAMINATION WILL BE HELD

Fill Vacancy At Arlington Due To Postman's Resignation

An examination for postmaster at Arlington will be held in Rushville, January 6, according to a notice issued today at the postoffice here. The civil service examination is to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of Fred Woods who has resigned on account of ill health.

The applicants for the position may be either a man or woman over 21 years old, and must be a patron from the Arlington office. The pay ranges in accordance with the annual business of the office from the sale of stamps and other sources of revenue. The examination will be held in Rushville, under the supervision of Clarence Cross, local civil service examiner.

MONOMETER STOLEN

A monometer and radiator cap was stolen from Frank Priest's automobile while it was standing in front of the Graham Annex school building Friday night during the Rushville-Greensburg basketball game. It is reported that several thefts of automobile accessories have occurred recently and that an effort will be made by the police to apprehend the thieves.

STATE ROAD NO. 39 IN GOOD CONDITION

Highway Is Direct Route From Indianapolis To Cincinnati Through Rushville And Brookville

STATE ROAD NO. 4 NOT GOOD

Final Cap In Paving National Road
Through Dunreith Was Closed And Will Be Completed Soon

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—The traffic bulletin of the state highway commission on the condition of state roads for the week beginning Dec. 3, shows Road No. 6, between Indianapolis and Shelbyville, and No. 39 between Indianapolis and Rushville, both a little rough in places last week now in good condition. Thirty-nine is the short route from Indianapolis to Cincinnati through Rushville and Brookville, and No. 6 the direct route to Greensburg, and Versailles with Lawrenceburg connection. Madison may be reached over this route but the preferable route is No. 1. to Columbus and thence on 26 via North Vernon.

Because of construction on State Road No. 4 between Booneville and Huntington, and Haysville to French Lick, through traffic should not use this route this winter. Driving over this dirt road section is slavish. Detour through Mitchell to avoid construction of bridge over B. & O. railroad.

Two new bridges east of Vincennes are completed and open to traffic. Run-arounds are provided at bridge construction west of Washington. On State Road No. 10, traffic should detour through Haubstadt and Ft. Branch to avoid dirt road under construction.

Announcement is made that the final gap in paving the National Road through Dunreith was closed November 28. This stretch will be ready for traffic in about 21 days, perchance sooner.

State Road No. 1 (New Albany, Seymour, Indianapolis, Kokomo, South Bend to Michigan line)—Detour west at Crothersville via Dudleytown in wet weather.

State Road No. 2 (Lincoln Highway, Valparaiso, South Bend, Ligonier and Ft. Wayne to Ohio line)—Closed through Dyer and Schererville, and from Valparaiso to Porter Lake county line account construction.

State Road No. 3 (National Road, Terre Haute, Indianapolis Richmond)—Continuous pavement from Indianapolis to Ohio line excepting half a mile detour at Dunreith where pavement completed this week will be opened in 21 days. Continuous pavement Indianapolis west for 29 miles; 7 miles under construction, three and a half miles pavement between Putnamville and Manhattan; three miles construction, short pavement, half mile gap, and 17 miles continuous pavement to Terre Haute. Detours marked.

State Road No. 6 (Madison, Greensburg, Shelbyville, Indianapolis, Monticello)—Eight miles construction south of Versailles; passable.

State Road No. 8 (New stone south of Rensselaer make careful driving necessary. To avoid eight miles unimproved road, take Jackson Highway to Aix to Crown Point.

State Road No. 10. (Evansville Terre Haute, Covington)—Detour through Haubstadt and Ft. Branch to avoid dirt road under construction. Be careful of construction work at big hill north of Hazleton ferry. Drive carefully over new fill north of Clinton.

State Road No. 11 (Greenfield, Anderson, Ft. Wayne)—New metal between Alexandria and Marion. For three miles south of Anderson drive carefully.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK

Through the efforts of Dr. P. P. Claxton, who is the father of the movement for "Educational Week," it is receiving the co-operation of all of the organizations and associations and the individual should boost.

There are few movements that are more worth while than to have a people that is filled with knowledge of the worth of what America stands for, with its many free institutions of learning.

A great demand will come in the future generations, and through this stimulus, the people should be prepared to cope with any question that may arise.

I. Walter R. Thomas, mayor of the City of Rushville, proclaim December 3 to 9 as "American Educational Week" with the hope that the people of our city and county see the need of such preparedness.

ELIZABETH HARRISON SUCCUMBS AT MILROY

Dies at Age of Eighty-Five Years at The Home of Her Daughter, Mrs.
William Wolsgang

FUNERAL SUNDAY AT 2 P. M.

Mrs. Elizabeth Frances Harrison, aged 85 years, expired at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Wolsgang, in Milroy, Friday night about eleven o'clock, following a several weeks illness with a complication of diseases.

The deceased lived practically all her life in Richland township until a year ago when she went to live with her daughter, in Milroy. John B. Harrison, and the one daughter at whose home she died.

The funeral services will be held at the residence Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, the Rev. R. R. Cross, pastor of the Methodist church of Milroy, officiating. Interment will take place in the Richland cemetery. The funeral services will be private and friends may call at the house Saturday evening and Sunday morning until eleven o'clock.

COUNTY REPRESENTED AT FARMERS MEETING

Two Delegates And President Attending Annual Convention In Session In Indianapolis

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The Rush county Farmers association was represented by two delegates and other members of the organization at the opening session of the fourth annual convention of the Indiana Federation of Farmers Associations, in Indianapolis Friday.

The two delegates Jesse Peters of Union township and Will Brown of this city, were also present for the business sessions which were held today, and it was expected that a number of other farmers would attend the convention today. Fred Bell, president of the county association, Chester Beaver and others attended Friday, and Donald D. Ball, county agent, attended the convention Friday afternoon and the state meeting of county agents Friday evening.

At Friday night's session, W. H. Settle of Petroleum, Wells county, was elected president to succeed John J. Brown of Monon. Scott Meiks of Shelby county was elected first vice-president and John G. Brown and Will Senior were elected directors-at-large. The secretary and treasurer are elected by the board of directors.

The convention went on record for a two-cent tax on gasoline and an increase in automobile and truck license fees.

HUGHES TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Motion Filed For Change of Judge
In Embezzlement Case Making
Postponement Necessary

SET FOR HEARING MONDAY

Proceedings Against Gip Martin, on Docket For Today, Go Over—
J. W. Jones Seeks Divorce

Mary Ellen Hughes, charged with embezzlement, who was scheduled to go on trial Monday in the circuit court, will not be tried until probably the last week in December, as a motion has been filed for a change of judge. Judge Sparks was to submit a list of prospective judges today for the attorneys to make their selection for the trial judge.

The case set for trial today in which Gip Martin, colored is accused in paternity proceedings by a young colored girl by the name of English, will be tried Monday.

The liquor case, it was decided by the attorneys to continue the case until after Christmas.

James W. Jones is plaintiff in a suit filed today for divorce in which Dorothy Jones is defendant. The complaint alleges that they were married April 22, 1922 and separated November 25, and that during their short married life, she was guilty of associating with other men, cursed the plaintiff and called him vile names. The plaintiff alleges that she is not a fit person to have the custody of their seven months baby, and that he has been compelled to take it to his mother. The defendant resides at 721 N. Willow, according to the complaint.

In the suit of Goldie Munden against Raymond Munden, a complaint for divorce, the plaintiff was granted a change of venue from the county, and sent to Fayette county to be tried.

James Gillispie, defendant in a criminal case, charged with false pretense, was refused a change of venue from the county. He is charged with having sold cloth material made of cotton, which he represented to be linen.

RECORD FOR MARRIAGE LICENSES IS HUNG UP

November Sets High Mark For Year
With 25 Couples Applying—475
Hunting Licenses Sold

SIX FIRE ALARMS IN MONTH

The month of November sets a new record this year in the number of marriage licenses, when county clerk Loren Martin issued 25 during that period. The greatest business in the county clerk's office for the month, however, was the issuing of hunting licenses, as a total of 475 were handed out, and when the first of December came, all licenses had been exhausted and a new supply was received today from Indianapolis.

During the month just closed, there were three couples applied for divorce. A total of 18 civil suits filed during the same period.

The fire department during November answered six alarms three of which were false. The total loss was estimated for the month as $1,900, which was confined to three fires, the greatest loss being at the Methodist church. The other two losses were an automobile and a dwelling house. The total number of runs for the year reached 57 in November.

MOONSHINE CONFISCATED

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 2.—Confiscated moonshine whiskey to the extent of 125 gallons and 66 quarts of home brew were poured into the sewer here by Sheriff Charles B. Moon on instructions from Mayor J. A. Sloane before defendants from whom the liquor was taken in were tried.

WILL LIBERALIZE ANTI-TRUST LAW

Secretary Of Commerce Hoover Advocates Changes in His Annual Report Made Public Today

WOULD ENABLE COOPERATION

His Plan Would Be To Give Organizations Chance To Be Legally Formed—Arguments Are Given

By WILLIAM J. LOSH
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 2.—Liberalization of the Sherman anti-trust law and supplementary "restraint of trade acts to enable co-operative organizations, as distinguished from capital consolidations, to be legally formed is advocated by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, in his annual report, parts of which were made public today.

Hoover's plan for legally sanctioning such co-operative ventures, together with his arguments in its favor as set forth in his report, follows:

"It has often been argued that the original intent of the restraint of acts was not to inhibit any sort of economic collective action which was in interest of public welfare and that the time has come when the act should be limited so as to leave free all such action.

"Without entering upon debate as to the difficulties of such a course it is possible to consider a narrower field of liberalization of law; that is for the law to be liberalized to the extent that co-operative organizations should be permitted to file with some appropriate governmental agency the plan of their operations; the functions they propose to carry on, and the objectives they proposed to reach; that upon approval such of these functions as did not apparently contravene public interest might be proceeded with; that upon complaint, however, either of individuals or the law officers of the Government that these functions had reacted against public interest, then after a hearing before some suitable tribunal the right to continue these particular functions should, if the complaints are justified, be suspended.

"If thereafter these functions were continued or it should be proved that the activities had been extended beyond the functions in the original proposals, the organization should be likewise subject to prosecution under the present acts. Parties who did not wish to avail themselves of this privilege could continue in the present status.

"All who know the situation in such matters will realize that the problems of co-operative action are mainly the concern of smaller business. Such a measure as that suggested above would serve actually to protect small business and thus to maintain competition. Big business takes care of itself. Legitimate trade associations and other forms of business co-operation would be greatly stimulated along lines of public welfare if such a plan were adopted.

AUTO BODY HAS HEAVY PROGRAM

State Association Announces Plans For Better Protection And Benefit To Auto Owners

ONE PLAN IS ATTAINED

Establishment Of Branch Office For License Plates Is Achievement—Road Marking Extended

Facing the winter months with an even greater program of activities than was carried on during the summer, the Hoosier State Auto Association announces some of its plans for the better protection and benefit of automobile owners throughout Indiana, in a statement just issued by Charles Caldwell, local representative.

Of chief interest, as coming into direct contact with thousands of automobile owners, will be the opening of many additional offices for the issuance of automobile license plates. Last year twenty-six license bureaus were operated by the H. S. A. A. due to the direct co-operation of Ed Jackson secretary of state. The number has been trebled for the coming season so that owners may call at their nearest office with the certificate of title (not the receipt card) and pay the regular fee and obtain their automobile plates at once. This service is to be started on the 1923 plates all over the state beginning Dec. 12, it is stated.

Road marking work does not stop with the advent of wintry weather the auto association states, as it now has a route marking crew at work finishing up the pole marking on several important trails, notably the Old National Road entirely across Indiana. Twelve main motor trails have been repaired this season stated, this work being done at a heavy expense for the benefit of the motoring public.

Plans are underway whereby town pointers may be obtained for larger cities of the state, these to be erected on steel angle bar posts. The pointers are to be of heavy gauge steel, porcelain enameled, carrying an arrow pointer with the name of the city inside the colors being white and blue. Some cities are already being marked in this manner, it is announced, and plans for other places are going forward. It is declared that any city which desires this special marking service may obtain the aid of the auto association in local civic clubs or the chamber of commerce will communicate with M. E. Noblet, manager H. S. A. A. Claypool Hotel, Indianapolis.

Many matters pertaining to legislation are being considered by the directors of the H. S. A. A., according to their announcement and it is expected that the association will be as in the past, the clearing house for all progressive legislation affecting the interests of automobile owners. Several meetings of the directors, comprising representative men from all parts of Indiana have been held and others are scheduled "As usual the H. S. A. A. will be the watchdog in behalf of auto owners at the state house," it is tersely stated. "We wish owners to reciprocate and give us their friendly support and their membership whenever they can do so."

It is pointed out that the work of the automobile association is sustained solely from membership fees and that the association is not working for a profit. "We expect to have a road scout busy all winter logging various main motor routes," Mr. Noblet states, "and the result of this work will be free to all our members, of course. "Mr. D. Allen is in charge of this work and he has nation-wide experience. He expects to carry on throughout the winter making exact speedometer readings up and down and across Indiana to supplement our marked routes. We certainly feel that now is no time for any owner to present the alibi that he will 'wait till spring' before joining. We never stop in his behalf."

FEAR FORMATION OF A NEW PARTY

Progressives From Every State Met To Organize In Support Of Progressive Bloc In Congress

TO KEEP VOTERS IN TOUCH

Do Not Want Public Mind Disabused Of Misleading Impressions Created By Propaganda

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 2.—Progressive men and women from every state in the union met here today to organize in support of the newly formed progressive bloc in congress.

The anxious eyes of political leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties were on to conference, which was generally regarded as the forerunner of a third party, strong enough to dispute with the old parties control of the government in 1924.

While the progressives who met today disavowed any intention of forcing a third party, the possibility that out of the present effort such a movement may grow was not lost upon those assembled here.

But the primary object of today's meeting was to be the formation of an organization that would go back into the states and sound the voice of progressivism constantly; tell the people what progressives in congress were doing, and rally them to support their representatives in the House and Senate.

Members of the progressive bloc in congress, who met yesterday to perfect a definite organization attended today's session, over which Senator LaFollette, chairman of the bloc, presided. Scores of progressives not in congress also were present, and many of them expected to address the meeting.

It was suggested before the conference assembled, that committees be appointed to consider various phases of progressive activity. Arrangements must be made, it was stated for adequate and fair publicity, so that the people may be kept informed concerning the work of the progressive bloc in congress and that the public mind may be disabused of misleading impressions created by propaganda sent out by enemies of the progressive movement.

Today's meeting brought together representatives of various liberal and progressive groups which for the past three or four years have been operating more or less independently. These include the committee of Forty-eight; the Farmer-Labor party; the Conference for Progressive Political action; the Church League of Industrial Democracy; the National Consumers League; the Committee on Social Service; Northern Baptist convention; the National Child Labor Committee; the National Grange; the Farmers National Council.

Heads of all the railroad brotherhoods and of the unions represented in the Railway employees department, American Federation of Labor were also invited.

Many noted social workers, both men and women, were present as well as judges lawyers, preachers, labor leaders, editors and men and women whose only claim to fame is that they have been identified with the movement for the liberalization and democratization of government.

Women in Politics

In the states where women recently acquired the suffrage, they are often asked how they have enjoyed the experience of voting. The great majority of those who cast their ballots on November 7, have rather enjoyed their participation in the great game. They will say that it has broadened their point of view, and given them new contacts with life.

But many women of domestic nature are less enthusiastic. Their devotion to home goes so far as to fill their whole heart. They watch over the family nest with anxious care, and guard against its deterioration with loving hand. Every flower in their little garden, every article of furniture and equipment, is the subject of their watchful concern. They toil lovingly for husband and children.

To many women whose thoughts are thus centered, the stormy conflicts of politics seem remote and distasteful. They feel bewildered when asked to render a verdict on issues that seem beyond their experience, and distant from their interests.

This type of woman has somewhat passed out of fashion. But it developed lovely personalities, as sturdy as oak, as sunny as a flower in their garden. They brought up families of loyal and useful children. It seems almost hard to take these admirable women of the older type, and force them into a form of activity that fails to interest and may be perplexing and burdensome to them.

The modern woman has moved on from this secluded ideal. She has become a member of the civic body and expects to take her share in community leadership. The majority of women will never retire into the former limited conception of feminine interests.

So it looks as if the old fashioned woman must either overcome her aversion to political activity, or fail to take her share of public burdens. If she will put the same sound sense into citizenship that she has devoted to domestic concerns, she will be a tremendous force for good government.

When you were a child in school your parents were keeping a watchful eye over your progress from day to day.

But parents had more time in those days than they have now. Or at least they took the time necessary to see that their children were given proper support and encouragement.

True, we are now living in a swift-er age, and must move rapidly or drop behind in the mad scramble for conquest.

With some this may serve as an excuse for leaving everything to the teacher who is paid to cultivate the brains of our offspring.

In reality, though, it should prompt us to exercise even greater personal supervision over the education and training of our children, in order that they may not be outdistanced in a faster pace yet to be set.

For the one who lags behind gets only what is left by those who sweep on in the race of life.

MUSICAL BENEFIT

Mary and James Bullock of near New Salem, blind musicians, will give a program at the Milroy M. E. church Sunday evening, Dec. 3 at seven o'clock. A free will offering will be taken at the close of the program to help these worthy young people defray the expenses of a musical education.

New ideas that everybody laughs at are the big ideas of the future.A man's convictions are largely influenced by the dividends they produce for him.The feminine art of fainting depends for success upon selecting the proper occasion.When you can turn a difficulty into a tonic, you have all the capital you need to go ahead.Some let their brains loaf, some their bodies, while the general inclination is to do both.It is often the case when you want to do the right thing, that you find a law forbidding it.

With th' ol' bus up on jacks fer th' winter, th' outdoor work purty well finished, an' th' kids safe in th' school room most o' th' time, it might seem like th' coroner an' undertaker could enjoy a breathin' spell; which they probably would, only if it wasn't fer th' white mule victims, th' old folks that falls an' breaks their crystal ends on slick, icy steps, an' th' ladies that courts newmonia by wearin' July duds in December.

It looks now like they'd be a heap fewer backs broke, broken' coal into th' furnace this winter than they will be pocketbooks broke, payin' th' prices they ask fer it, or of eyes ruined, huntin' in th' bin fer th' last lump. Thanks t' th' prevailin' prices, overatin' an overthinkin' has about petered out as th' prominent sins that most people commit agens health, an' if that was th' worst danger we had t' face they's a lot of us that'd stand a good chance o' puttin' ol' Methusaly back amongst th' also rans.

Tough as it is t' hafta tell it, though, we gotta face th' fact that th' mortality rate is likely t' be kep up t' normal or better by th' lack o' popularity o' skid chains an' moderate speed, by th' thin ice daredevils an' by th' hunters that won't come home without killin' somethin', even if it aint nothin but th' guide or themselves.

Th' world's anxiously awaiting two geniuses: one who'll invent a way t' store th' surplus heat fr'm our radiators in summer, so's t' warm our homes with it in winter, an' one who'll make old folks understand they gotta keep off th' ice, as well as makin' th' young folks understand they gotta entertain a heap o' respect fer th' danger that lurks at trolley crossin's, steam crossin's, road crossin's, street crossin's an' all other crossin's.

RUSHVILLE WINS A NIP AND TUCK GAME

Basketball Team Has Tough Luck on Shots But Pulls Out With Margin of Three Points

IT WAS A HARD ONE TO LOSE

First Break in Greensburg's Winning Streak—Rushville Takes Lead in Second Half

In a nip and tuck battle, the Rushville high school basketball team downed the Greensburg team here Friday night in a close game, 19 to 16, winning out in the last few minutes of play. In the curtain raiser the local second team also won out over the Greensburg seconds by a score of 25 to 17, in a well played and exciting contest.

The defeat handed Greensburg last night was a hard one for them, because it marked the end of their winning streak, and caused them to drop the first game of the season, after having won nine straight.

Greensburg was accompanied by a large delegation and their drum corps. The local high school band did not play, out of the respect to Claude Owens, one of their members, who was buried yesterday morning.

In the big game last night, the locals were up against stiff opposition all of the way through, as Greensburg has a well balanced team, and a good defense, and the locals resorted to long shots in order to win the game.

Rushville drew first blood when Phillips was given a couple of chances to throw fouls, and made one of them. Greensburg however, missed the next three chances to score on fouls, but soon after that, Meek dropped one in from the back guard position for two points.

Wahman for Greensburg tossed two more fouls, which gave Greensburg 4 points to Rushville one, and the game was being hotly fought by each side. The locals were playing out of luck on hitting the basket, as the ball many times came within close range, only to fall short a few inches.

As the game went on, neither team scored for a few minutes, and then Snoddy tossed a couple of fouls, putting Rushville one behind, 4 to 3. Then the next counter came from Greensburg, when Wahman scored a foul, and soon afterwards Snoddy arched one in from the field from the sideline, for the first field goal for Rushville, putting the score tied at 5 to 5.

This was the best that Rushville could do this half, and shortly before the period was up, Greensburg shot another field goal, giving them 7 to Rushville 5 at the half way period.

When the second half started the two teams fought hard for their points, but Rushville tied the score at 7, when Phillips anchored one from the center of the floor.

A double foul was called and each team made an additional point. Then when Greensburg was throwing a ringer, a Rushville player hung on, and the basket counted, and they were given two chances for a foul, and made one, putting Greensburg three points ahead in a few seconds, 11 to 8.

McNamara shot a long field marker from the side line that brought Rushville up a couple of points, with the visitors leading 11 to 10, but when he soon repeated with another long shot, it put Rushville in the lead for the first time in the last half since the first few minutes of the game, by the score of 12 to 11.

Their lead was short, because Meek for Greensburg sent a long one through the air from the back guard position, and then the Tree City team forged ahead one point, 13 to 12.

Hilligoss replaced Snoddy at forward, and soon was under the basket for a nice shot that put Rushville one point ahead on his field goal, 14 to 13, and from this time on, the locals maintained their lead.

Walker shot a goal, giving the locals three points the best of the game, but Wahman for Greensburg scored a foul, putting the score 16 to 14. Lakin went in for McNamara at forward, and he soon shot a long ringer from the center, which gave Rushville 18 and Greensburg 14.

With one minute to play, Miller, Greensburg's forward, received an injury and he had to retire. It was believed that he had broken a couple of ribs, but an examination revealed that he was exhausted and a sharp pain caused him to fall.

When the play was resumed in the final minute, Wahman for Greensburg grabbed the ball and sent it through the air for a field goal, but just before the shot rang out Phillips was given a chance to score on a foul, and made it, putting Rushville at 19 and Greensburg at 16 at the close of the game.

Changes Would Double Number of Sectional Tournaments And Provides for Four Regionals

INCREASE IN TEAMS CAUSE

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2—Radical changes and conduct of the state high school basketball tournaments will be made if plans under consideration of the Indiana high school athletic association are carried out it became known today.

These changes would double the number of sectional tournaments from 32 to 64, provide four regional tournaments, instead of two and playing of two rounds instead of one at the regional tournaments.

The great increase in the number of high school basketball teams in Indiana has been responsible for the proposed change, A. L. Trester secretary of the association said.

"Last year we had to assign as many as twenty two teams to some sections," Trester said. "That was entirely too many and all indications are that unless some sections are added the congestion will be still greater this year."

The two regional tournaments has been held at Purdue and Indiana Universities. Places mentioned for the two additional are DePauw and Wabash colleges and Richmond and the new high school gymnasium at Fort Wayne, Ind.

AMUSEMENTS

Famous Novel Filmed

The celebrated novel, "Blood and Sand," by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of the tremendously successful "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," has been pictured by Paramount and will open at the Princess theatre for three days beginning Monday. Rodolph Valentino is the star and Lila Lee and Nita Naldi are featured.

This is an announcement of interest to book-lawyers and those who follow the artistic advance of the photoplay. For "Blood and Sand", an exotic, colorful story of Spain, is said to be even more compellingly interesting than was its great predecessor by the same author.

"Blood and Sand" has another unusual point of appeal in that it is the first starring picture of Rodolph Valentino whose rise to film success has been without precedent. It is a Fred Niblo production directed by the man who made "The Three Musketeers." Assurance that the Ibanez novel, has been correctly interpreted is offered with the presentation of June Mathis as adaptor. She wrote the scenario for Two acts of Vaudeville and a comedy and a drama constitute the program for today. Wanda Hawley appears in "The Truthful Liar" and the comedy is "When Summer Comes."

Western At Mystic

One of the most unusual stories to have ever been gotten ready for the screen is underlined for an early appearance at the Mystic theatre, when a four-star cast will interpret the character in "So This Is Arizona," a stirring western novel that is filled to overflowing with thrills.

The story is timely, and especially appealing to the boys who saw service overseas. While it is not a war story by any means, there is shown the adventures of a veteran who came back just in time to run head-on into a series of adventures that are hair-raising.

Al Hart Farnum, "Shorty" Hamilton, Al Hart and Francis Ford are the big names of the cast, and the list of players include many well known artists who have made big in the western films.

PLAY AT ARLINGTON TONIGHT

Webb and Arlington high school basketball teams will meet at the Arlington gym tonight and the girls teams from the two schools will play the curtain raiser. It has been announced previously for Webb school, but this was incorrect.

MILROY TROUNCES CARTHAGE

Milroy high school trounced over the Carthage high school team Friday night at Milroy, the final count being 22 to 12. Each team put up a hard game, and the defense worked well for both teams, but Milroy got a few point lead and was not headed during the contest.

Fight Over Draft is on Again

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 2—Once again the draft will be one of the big issues when the major league owners and the minor league magnates get together in their annual winter sessions.

Naturally the major league owners want to get the pick of the minors for $7,500 at the close of each season and obviously the little fellows want to get $175,000 of their product in high class.

That is the whole argument in the draft.

The Pacific Coast League, the American Association and the International League have been able to defeat all the moves made by the majors to force them to agree to a modified form of the draft.

As far as the Pacific Coast League is concerned, it already has voted against any restoration of the draft. In the past two years, the Coast magnates have been paid close to a half-million dollars for players and they want to continue having an open market for their players.

The American Association is not so vitally interested, excepting in the moral effect that it might have in holding up the prestige of the minors. The association hasn't been developing players for several years.

Since Jack Dunn has agreed to and has started breaking up his powerful Baltimore Club, the International League may not desert the ranks of the anti-drafts, as was threatened last summer.

Peeved because of the slump in business caused by Baltimore's annual feat of running away with the pennant, the league met in special session and warned Dunn if he didn't break up his team, they would vote to restore the draft.

Baltimore has sold Bentley to the Giants but the other stars are still in the fold and if Dunn doesn't show that he has plans for disposing of them, the International probably will put away from the "Big Three".

Unless Commissioner Landis has developed plans for an amicable settlement of the controversy, a major-minor war may develop at the meetings.

Charley Ebbs, the owner of the Brooklyn club, who would like to have the draft price reduced to $7,500, instead of $7500, wanted the majors to boycott the minors last year, but it was learned that some of the magnates feared they would have to class Ebbs' team as one of the minors and they wanted to retain his friendship.

Ban Johnson, the American League president, has been doing a lot of talking out in the west about bombs that he is going to throw, etc. Perhaps he has a piece of H. E. that will blast the minors out of their dugouts.

Johnson's campaign, however, seems to be against Commissioner Landis and if they ever do go to it out in the opening it will be an interesting bout to watch.

Johnson, no doubt, could recruit some allies among the American League club owners if he went out "to get" Landis, but he wouldn't get much help among the National League magnates.

The American League boss is still said to be suffering from the wounds sustained when Commissioner Landis had the audacity to hold up the purse for the tiegame of the world's series and dispose of it without saying a word to him or John Heydler, the National League proxy.

SOCIETY

Edited By Miss Edna Krammes
Phone 1111

The Woman's Council will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Callaghan store.

The Tri Kappa sorority will be entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy E. Harrold in East Ninth street. All the members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Curt Hester was the leader of the Delphian meeting Friday afternoon which was held in the Elks club rooms. The topic for discussion at the meeting was "Dramatic Entertainments of the Renaissance". The following talks were very interestingly given: "The Commedia Del' Arte", Mrs. Will Abercrombie; "The Interlude", Mrs. Curt Hester; "The Four P's", Mrs. Horatio Havens; "The Masque", Mrs. Will Dill. The next meeting will be held December 15 and at that time Mrs. L. L. Allen, representing the Federated clubs of the 6th district, will talk before the society, about the formation of a county federation of women's clubs.

Mrs. Helen Smith delightfully entertained a number of young people at her home northeast of here, with a surprise party honoring her daughter Lillie's birthday. The evening was spent with contests music and dancing, following which a two course supper was served by the hostess. Those present were: Sylvia McCrory, Ava Ging, Freda and Bertha Custer, Lavonne Brooks, Vera Freeman, Louise Dagnell, Mary Hackleman, June Lightfoot, Phyllis Dean, Alice Peters, Mary Patton, Gleta Reed, Thelma Buell, Catherine Laughlin, Francis McCrory, Lillie Smith and John Reed, Rea Ging, Theodora Custer, Fred Cook, Dorris Darnell, Dale Peters, Don L. Essex Russell Titsworth Byorn Jackson, Lawrence Stafford, Charlie Groves, Virgil Link, Russell Dora, Russel Link, Samuel Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin and daughters Alice and Janet, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCrory and daughter Helen, Dan Rea and Rea Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hardin entertained at their country home west of Rushville Thanksgiving day with a three course dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hardin who were married at the home of the bride near Mt. Comfort, Ind., at high noon Wednesday, Nov. 29. Mrs. Hardin was formerly Miss Marguerite Plessinger, daughter of Charlie Plessinger. She is one of Mt. Comfort's most popular young ladies and has been a very successful teacher in the Hancock county schools for the past eight years. Mr. Hardin is a well known young farmer of Posey township. They will reside on a farm near Mt. Comfort. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higgins and son Hiram Wendall, Banton Hardin and sons Harrold and Wilbur and daughter Joyce Aleen, Mrs. Edna Miller and daughter Helen Maxine, Miss Lavangn Hardin Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. Fon Miller.

Dress Hints For The Girl Whose Purse Is Limited

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)

New York, Dec. 2—Rich or poor, nearly every woman has to limit herself to the amount which she can spend upon dress. Society women want new sables, actresses new jewels and shopgirls new serge suits and none of them are ever satisfied, poor dears!

"A woman's a woman for all of that," and she who wears an inexpensive blue suit often outshines the woman who is jeweled from double chin to finger tip. But that doesn't make the wearer of the blue suit feel any happier.

Though her figure needs no dieting, her hair no toning up she knows that a theatre ticket with her best beau demands donning something a little different from the everyday things she wears to the office. Her blue serge suit is becoming a tragedy to her.

There are ways, however, that a girl can doll up the plain blue suit so that it will look well enough to fit into any restaurant or theatre. But the girl must be a shrewd buyer and use discretion in her choice of colors.

We'll begin with the suit. Always buy a suit that is not too extreme in line and one that is of some dark, well-wearing material. Blues and browns are always in good taste

The ladies of the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church will hold their Christmas bazaar and penup supper Friday afternoon, and night December, 8 in the parlors of the church.

The Coterie will be entertained Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Horatio Havens in North Harrison street.

The W. R. C. will be entertained with a pitch in dinner at the home of Mrs. Ida Lee in North Sexton street, next Tuesday. All the members are requested to be present and to bring their silverware and dishes. It will also be gift day.

The Misses Elsie and Marie Kuntz were hostesses at a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday at their home near Greensburg. The turkey dinner was served in three courses and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hessel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Harmon and son Richard, Mr. and Mrs. John Newcom and Frank and Casper Wilhelm of Greensburg.

Mrs. George Urbach will entertain the members of the Young Ladies Mission Circle of the Main Street Christian church Monday evening at her home in North Main street. This will be the Christmas meeting and each member is requested to bring a gift to be exchanged. It will also be due night and all the members are urged to be present at this meeting. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Curt Hester and Mrs. Gibson Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson and daughter Opal of Markleville entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner, Mr. and Mrs. William Tiner and family, Miss Midred Rets, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson, Mrs. Amanda Tiner of Newcastle, Mr. and Mrs. John Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tiner and family of Spiceland M. W. Osborn of Mays, Clifford Leonard of Lewisville, Lawrence Miller of New Salem, William Emsweller and family and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Emsweller of this city.

and Poirer twills and serges and garberdines have lasting qualities. For office work plain white blouses with long sleeves and girlish collars give one a clean, wholesome appearance that is demanded for office work. Her hat may be of plain felt or velvet matching her suit. Her stockings should be of light weight wool and her shoes low-heeled.

For dress wear she may wear the same suit touched up a bit with appropriate accessories. Instead of the white blouse she has a blouse of matelasse, with Persian colorings, which comes down over the hips so that when her coat is removed, she appears to have a dressy gown on.

Her hat can be a colorful turban of broadened ribbon, velvet-trimmed with feathers or, in fact, any little dressy hat which is becoming to her. Hats have never been as inexpensive as they are now. A pair of patent pumps with steel buckles and silk hosiery help change the street suit to a dressy snit. Then there are such lovely chains of vari-colored beads which one can buy for ever so little and which should match the hat. Tan or taupe gloves are dressy and require less cleaning than white or champagne colors. A fur piece of gray fox or mink will add wonders to the blue suit for dress occasions and can be replaced for every day wear by a woolen scarf.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrold entertained at their home in North Julian street Thanksgiving day with a pitch-in dinner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherman and family, Miss Ethel Posey, and Charles Sherman and Miss Ruby Bundy, of Indianapolis.

MOTOR CROOKS GET AWAY FROM 'COPS'

Patrolmen on Beats in Chicago, Don't Have Much Chance to Capture the Modern Bandit

AUTOS MAY BE BOUGHT

Motor Fleet May be Used in Order to Give Chase to the Motorized Burglars in That City

Chicago, Dec. 2—The district patrolman, covering his beat afoot, no longer has a chance to cope with the modern motorized crook, declared Chief Charles Fitzmorris of the Chicago Police Department.

"The crooks can watch a policeman on his beat and after he has passed a certain point commit a half dozen crimes and make their getaway, for they know it will be an hour before he is back again," Fitzmorris said.

He has recommended the purchase of thirty and later of sixty more autos so that the department will have an even break with the crook.

The new "flivver squadron" will patrol certain districts. Each car, manned by three policemen in uniform, will cover a regular beat, more often and more speedily than the foot patrolmen.

In asking an appropriation for the purchase of the new cars, Chief Fitzmorris pointed out that auto patrols and motorcycle officers have cut auto thefts in half and have almost eliminated payroll robberies.

In addition to working for the improvement of the motor facilities of the department, the Chief is preparing to institute a rigid checking system, so that the patrolmen will stand on their own merits. "Chair warmers" and petty politicians who have drifted into soft berths on the force will be spotted and weeded out.

The Chief's next step to make Chicago a city of the straight and narrow path will be to ask for appointment of a health, sanitation and moral commission to suppress commercialized vice.

Request for such a commission the Chief explained is not an attempt to "pass the buck" for existing conditions. His study of the situation has convinced him that vice can be dealt with most successfully by commissions.

MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side.

I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a backache every month.

I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

Here is a woman who is so grateful and glad to be relieved from a painful and nerve racking physical condition that she wishes to tell all sick women.

Here's the Answer

The changeable weather of Autumn gives rise to a knotty problem of dressing for comfort and health. Most folks lean toward the warmer periods—that's why colds are so prevalent when the thermometer drops and the raw winds blow.

RUSHVILLE WINS A NIP AND TUCK GAME

Basketball Team Has Tough Luck on Shots But Pulls Out With Margin of Three Points

IT WAS A HARD ONE TO LOSE

First Break in Greensburg's Winning Streak—Rushville Takes Lead in Second Half

In a nip and tuck battle, the Rushville high school basketball team downed the Greensburg team here Friday night in a close game, 19 to 16, winning out in the last few minutes of play. In the curtain raiser the local second team also won out over the Greensburg seconds by a score of 25 to 17, in a well played and exciting contest.

The defeat handed Greensburg last night was a hard one for them, because it marked the end of their winning streak, and caused them to drop the first game of the season, after having won nine straight.

Greensburg was accompanied by a large delegation and their drum corps. The local high school band did not play, out of the respect to Claude Owens, one of their members, who was buried yesterday morning.

In the big game last night, the locals were up against stiff opposition all of the way through, as Greensburg has a well balanced team, and a good defense, and the locals resorted to long shots in order to win the game.

Rushville drew first blood when Phillips was given a couple of chances to throw fouls, and made one of them. Greensburg, however, missed the next three chances to score on fouls, but soon after that, Meek dropped one in from the back guard position for two points.

Wahman for Greensburg tossed two more fouls, which gave Greensburg 4 points to Rushville one, and the game was being hotly fought by each side. The locals were playing out of luck on hitting the basket, as the ball many times came within close range, only to fall short a few inches.

As the game went on, neither team scored for a few minutes, and then Snoddy tossed a couple of fouls, putting Rushville one behind, 4 to 3. Then the next counter came from Greensburg, when Wahman, scored a foul, and soon afterwards Snoddy arched one in from the field from the sideline, for the first field goal for Rushville, putting the score tied.

at 5 to 5.

This was the best that Rushville could do this half, and shortly before the period was up, Greensburg shot another field goal, giving them 7 to Rushville 5 at the half way period.

When the second half started the two teams fought hard for their points, but Rushville tied the score at 7, when Phillips anchored one from the center of the floor.

A double foul was called and each team made an additional point. Then when Greensburg was throwing a ringer, a Rushville player hung on, and the basket counted, and they were given two chances for a foul, and made one, putting Greensburg three points ahead in a few seconds, 11 to 8.

McNamara shot a long field marker from the side line that brought Rushville up a couple of points, with the visitors leading 11 to 10, but when he soon repeated with another long shot, it put Rushville in the lead for the first time in the last half since the first few minutes of the game, by the score of 12 to 11.

Their lead was short, because Meek for Greensburg sent a long one through the air from the back guard position, and then the Tree City team forged ahead one point, 13 to 12.

Hilligoss replaced Snoddy at forward, and soon was under the basket for a nice shot that put Rushville one point ahead on his field goal, 14 to 13, and from this time on, the locals maintained their lead.

Walker shot a goal, giving the locals three points the best of the game, but Wahman for Greensburg scored a foul, putting the score 16 to 14. Lakin went in for McNamara at forward, and the soon shot a long ringer from the center, which gave Rushville 18 and Greensburg 14.

With one minute to play, Miller, Greensburg's forward, received an injury and he had to retire. It was believed that he had broken a couple of ribs, but an examination revealed that he was exhausted and a sharp pain caused him to fall.

When the play was resumed in the final minute, Wahman for Greensburg grabbed the ball and sent it through the air for a field goal, but just before the shot rang out Phillips was given a chance to score on a foul, and made it, putting Rushville at 19 and Greensburg at 16 at the close of the game.

PROPOSE BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT CHANGE

Changes Would Double Number of Sectional Tournaments And Provides for Four Regionals

INCREASE IN TEAMS CAUSE

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 2.—Radical changes and conduct of the state high school basketball tournaments will be made if plans under consideration of the Indiana high school athletic association are carried out it became known today.

These changes would double the number of sectional tournaments from 32 to 64, provide four regional tournaments, instead of two and playing of two rounds instead of one at the regional tournaments.

The great increase in the number of high school basketball teams in Indiana has been responsible for the proposed change, A. L. Trestler secretary of the association said.

"Last year we had to assign as many as twenty two teams to some sections," Trestler said. "That was entirely too many and all indications are that unless some sections are added the congestion will be still greater this year."

The two regional tournaments has been held at Purdue and Indiana Universities. Places mentioned for the two additional are DePauw and Wabash colleges and Richmond and the new high school gymnasium at Fort Wayne, Ind.

AMUSEMENTS

Famous Novel Filmed

The celebrated novel, "Blood and Sand," by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, author of the tremendously successful "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," has been pictured by Paramount and will open at the Princess theatre for three days beginning Monday. Rodolph Valentino is the star and Lila Lee and Nita Naldi are featured.

This is an announcement of interest to book-lovers and those who follow the artistic advance of the photoplay. For "Blood and Sand," an exotic, colorful story of Spain, is said to be even more compellingly interesting than was its great predecessor by the same author.

"Blood and Sand" has another unusual point of appeal in that it is the first starring picture of Rodolph Valentino whose rise to film success has been without precedent. It is a Fred Niblo production directed by the man who made "The Three Musketeers." Assurance that the Ibañez novel, has been correctly interpreted is offered with the presentation of June Mathis as adaptor. She wrote the scenario for two acts of Vaudeville and a comedy and a drama constitute the program for today. Wanda Hawley appears in "The Truthful Liar" and the comedy is "When Summer Comes."

Western At Mystic

One of the most unusual stories to have ever been gotten ready for the screen is underlined for an early appearance at the Mystic theatre, when a four-star cast will interpret the character in "So This Is Arizona," a stirring western novel that is filled to overflowing with thrills.

The story is timely, and especially appealing to the boys who saw service overseas. While it is not a war story by any means, there is shown the adventures of a veteran who came back just in time to run head-on into a series of adventures that are hair-raising.

Franklyn Farnum, "Shorty" Hamilton, Al Hart and Francis Ford are the big names of the cast, and the list of players include many well known artists who have made big in the western films.

PLAY AT ARLINGTON TONIGHT

Webb and Arlington high school basketball teams will meet at the Arlington gym tonight and the girls teams from the two schools will play the curtain raiser. It has been announced previously for Webb school, but this was incorrect.

MILROY TROUNCES CARTHAGE

Milroy high school trounced over the Carthage high school team Friday night at Milroy, the final count being 22 to 12. Each team put up a hard game, and the defense worked well for both teams but Milroy got a few point lead and was not headed during the contest.

Fight Over Draft is on Again

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 2—Once again the draft will be one of the big issues when the major league owners and the minor league magnates get together in their annual winter sessions.

Naturally the major league owners want to get the pick of the minors for $7,500 at the close of each season and obviously the little fellows want to get $175,000 of their product in high class.

That is the whole argument in the draft.

The Pacific Coast League, the American Association and the International League have been able to defeat all the moves made by the majors to force them to agree to a modified form of the draft.

As far as the Pacific Coast League is concerned, it already has voted against any restoration of the draft. In the past two years, the Coast magnates have been paid close to a half-million dollars for players and they want to continue having an open market for their players.

The American Association is not so vitally interested, excepting in the moral effect that it might have in holding up the prestige of the minors. The association hasn't been developing players for several years.

Since Jack Dunn has agreed to and has started breaking up his powerful Baltimore Club, the International League may not desert the ranks of the anti-drafts, as was threatened last summer.

Peeved because of the slump in business caused by Baltimore's annual feat of running away with the pennant, the league met in special session and warned Dunn if he didn't break up his team, they would vote to restore the draft.

Baltimore has sold Bentley to the Giants but the other stars are still in the fold and if Dunn doesn't show that he has plans for disposing of them, the International probably will put away from the "Big Three".

Unless Commissioner Landis has developed plans for an amicable settlement of the controversy, a major-minor war may develop at the meetings.

Charley Ebbets, the owner of the Brooklyn club, who would like to have the draft price reduced to $7,50, instead of $750, wanted the majors to boycott the minors last year, but it was learned that some of the magnates feared they would have to class Ebbets' team as one of the minors and they wanted to retain his friendship.

Ban Johnson, the American League president, has been doing a lot of talking out in the west about bombs that he is going to throw, etc. Perhaps he has a piece of H. E. that will blast the minors out of their dugouts.

Johnson's campaign, however, seems to be against Commissioner Landis and if they ever do go to it out in the opening it will be an interesting bout to watch.

Johnson, no doubt, could recruit some allies among the American League club owners if he went out "to get" Landis, but he wouldn't get much help among the National League magnates.

The American League boss is still said to be suffering from the wounds sustained when Commissioner Landis had the audacity to hold up the purse for the tiegame of the world's series and dispose of it without saying a word to him or John Heydler, the National League prexy.
